LONDON WINDS

A stunning combination of virtuoso players who also enjoy active solo careers, London Winds' performances are renowned for their technical brilliance, interpretative vision and joie de vivre. Founded in 1988 by British clarinetist Michael Collins for a highly successful debut concert at the Wigmore Hall in London, the group has rapidly become one of the world's most prominent chamber ensembles and celebrated its 20th anniversary in 2008. Current and recent engagements include performances across the UK, at the BBC Proms, Wigmore Hall, at the Queen Elizabeth Hall as part of the South Bank Centre's prestigious International Piano Series, at the Snape Maltings in the renowned Aldeburgh Festival, in Hong Kong, at the Concertgebouw Amsterdam and also in Schloss Elmau's revered chamber music series.
